16 September to 29 November 2013

Eykyn Maclean Gallery

30 St George Street, London W1S 2FH

The Eykyn Maclean Gallery, London, presents Van Gogh in Paris, a landmark exhibition exploring the 1886-88 years when Van Gogh was working in Paris. This period was a turning point in the artist's career and proved to be paramount to his development as an artist. A selection of core works, including A Pair of Shoes, The Ramparts of Paris, and Vase with Lilacs, Daisies and Anemones, champion the exhibition. The show also features work from artists admired by Van Gogh, including Monet, Pissarro, Gauguin and Signac. These artists inspired Van Gogh's work and allowed him to develop the confidence to embrace the brilliant palette for which he is now most renowned. For information visit www.eykynmaclean.com
